Methods:	In July 2003, during the first FAME Steering Committee Meeting in Mombasa, three FAME editors were selected to prepare the FAME editorial guidelines. It was understood that since editorial best practices had already been discussed and adopted by other editors' associations such as WAME, CSE and COPE, the FAME guidelines should be based on those and adapted to fit the African health publishing context. The World Health Organization's (WHO) Special Programme for Research and Training in Tropical Diseases (TDR) facilitated the meeting in Geneva, of three FAME editors, African Health Sciences (Uganda), Ethiopian Medical Journal (Ethiopia) and Revista Médica de Moçambique (Mozambique) and the Editor of the Bulletin of WHO to review existing editorial guidelines and to compile FAME ones.
